What is Lampworking?

Lampworking is the ancient art of melting glass on a hot torch to make beads or sculpting into other forms.

About your workshop

In this workshop you will learn to melt Borosilicate glass rods at the torch and sculpt into seaweed forms.
For those who have no experience in lampworking we will learn to create simple seaweed forms.
For those who have experience of the torch we will explore more complex forms.

The workshop includes:

- Health & Safety information and all of the necessary protective equipment required to wear while at the torch
- Tuition for using the main torch and the smaller Smiths Little Torch
- All of the materials and tools required to create your seaweed
- Tuition for making stems, leaves and bulbs and how to assemble the components successfully Kiln annealing of all pieces made on the day
- Tea, coffee and biscuits throughout the day plus light lunch (we are a 5 star food hygiene rated catering venue too!)

What will I make?

Techniques covered and number of pieces made will depend on your experience and speed
This depends on your speed, but most people will make enough elements to create at least 1 finished, branched piece of seaweed

Important
Please wear closed-toe shoes as you will be working in a glass studio. Also natural fibre clothing if possible.
